FRENCH ATTEMPT TO CROSS ATLANTIC FAILURE

FLYERS FORCED BACK WHEN BALKED BY FOG

Leon Givon and Pierre Corbu Return Farman Plane
After Starting For America By Southern
Route—Hope For Another Try

LE BOURGET FLYING FIELD, PARIS, Sept. 2.—The attempt of Leon Givon and Pierre Corbu to cross the Atlantic in the Farman biplane "Bluebird" ended at ten o'clock this morning when the fliers, balked by a heavy fog, landed here three hours and a half after the take-off.

Givon and Corbu hopped off in the "Bluebird" shortly before 6:30 o'clock this morning. Two hours later they returned, and circled about over the airfield, emptying the gas tanks of the huge plane so that a landing might be effected.

Givon, the pilot, brought the big plane back to earth at ten o'clock. The attempt cost $5,000 through the loss of the gasoline Givon was forced to throw overboard to make his landing.

Expressing deep regret that he had to give up the attempt, Givon explained that bad weather forced him to turn back.

The return of the plane brought a sigh of relief while his navigator looked with great disappointment to the spectators at Le Bourget, but universal gratification was expressed that the Farman Company. Given that risk his life and that of his navigator by flying in adverse weather.

Cheered by hundreds of persons who had gathered at Le Bourget in the early morning hours, Givon and Corbu set out in an attempt to succeed where their countrymen, Captains Nungesser and Coli, had failed. The flight was started in the massive Farman Goliath biplane which Maurice Drouhin originally was to pilot to New York. A contract with Charles D. Levine alienated Drouhin from the ranks of aviation hoping to fly across the ocean.

The flight was sponsored by Henri Farman, aeronautical pioneer and builder of the plane. The Bluebird was wheeled from her hangar early today, and all preparations for the flight completed. The aviators took their seats in the cockpit, and the engines were started. The flight almost ended in disaster at the outset, for a backfire from one of the three-motors sent forth a sheet of flame which, however, was extinguished by a mechanic, who rushed to the plane and smothered the blaze with his cap.

Givon and Corbu had planned to take the southern route to America, passing over the Azores and Bermuda.

The Bluebird was saturated with gasoline when it returned to the field, and the crowds were kept away from the gigantic plane for fear a lighted cigarette might cause a fire.

Givon started explaining how wonderfully the plane had acted, but newspaper correspondents who had waited up all night for the take-off, interrupted, asking:

"Why did you return?"

Givon, with the sarcasm characteristic of the youthful flier, replied:

"Because the weather was too fine."

Later, however, he added:

"Everything would have been all right but it's no fun flying in the fog."

The Bluebird was returned to its hangar and the doors closed. Veteran pilots shook their heads, declaring the crew should have continued a few hours at least to determine whether the fog was merely local, or whether it extended out over the ocean. Some of the airmen at the field remarked that Givon and Corbu did not speak to each other after the plane had landed, and that Givon had a

INVESTIGATORS OF FLOGGING PROBING IMPORTANT CLEWS

Several Questioned By Prosecutor — May
Call Jury

AKRON, O., Sept. 2.—Investigators in the Alfred Harris flogging case, at Kent, announced today that they had several important clues and that a number of arrests are imminent.

Several persons are to be questioned today by Oscar Hunsicker, Summit County prosecutor, and other county and private investigators. Harris was taken from City Hospital here yesterday to his home at Kent, and later to a place near Darrowville where he says he was beaten by eight masked men and thrown from an automobile last Tuesday morning.

Harris continues to implicate Kent police in the affair and he also revealed today that the petition, said to have been sought by the men, was a request to Governor Donahoe that he investigate the Kent police department and remove Mayor William Harvey and Police Chief George Traher.

CARIBOU, Me., Sept. 2.—Captain Terry Tully and Lieut. James Metcalf in their London, Ont., to London, Eng., monoplane Sir John Carling, will search the sea enroute to England for the missing plane "St. Raphael" carrying Princess Lowenstein-Wertheim, Capt. Leslie Hamilton, and Lieut. Col. F. F. Minchin, the fliers said today.

"We are going to do everything in our power while crossing the Atlantic to look for the missing St. Raphael," said Captain Tully to International News Service.

"Rain and fog are holding us here this forenoon. We are going to get away for Harbor Grace, Newfoundland, just as soon as the weather reports indicate that we will have a fighting chance of success. We thought the weather was clearing this morning but were fooled, for it is raining again and the fog persists.

"Lieut. Metcalf and I are determined to complete the London to London hop. Our plane made a perfect landing in the field on the Washburn Road, and it is in good condition. We got thirty miles out to sea off Prince Edward Island late yesterday when we ran into a curtain of fog and were forced to put back."

Many Attend Luncheon- Recital-Bridge Here

With about 175 women in attendance the luncheon - recital and bridge given at Christ Church parish house Thursday was an unusually delightful affair.

The handsome new baby grand piano recently purchased by Christ Church for the parish house was given its first introduction to the public at the recital. Miss Marjorie Street, popular young pianist, accompanied her sister, Miss Lois Street, cellist and Miss Zella Soward, soprano, in a number of delightful selections, the program

TWO HUNDRED AT NEEDMORE REUNION

Two hundred persons attended the annual reunion of former pupils, patrons and teachers of Needmore school, on the schoolgrounds south of Xenia Thursday.

The company participated in a basket dinner at noon, and in the afternoon enjoyed a impromptu program. Judge L. E. St. Johns of Troy, who was a former teacher as well as one time pupil of the school, gave a reminiscence talk, as did Prof. C. A. Devoe of Bowersville, and Clarence S. St. John, his guest, Mrs. Harriman of Florida; Miss Clara H. Hagar, of Newark, N. J., the guest of Miss Sarah B. Hagar.

Among persons from outside Greene County who attended the reunion were: Mr. and Mrs. Carl Anderson and family of Bellefontaine; Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Adsit, of Chillicothe; Mr. and Mrs. O. E. Painter and son Paul of Richmond, Ind.; Mrs. Mellie Oglesbee, Robert Oglesbee, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hunnicut, and daughters, Susanna and Priscilla; Miss Sarah Fife and Joseph Fife, of Wilmington; Mr. and Mrs. Walter Weaver and son of Winchester, Ind.; Mr. and Mrs. C. S. St. John and daughter of Miami, Fla.; Judge Walter St. John and family of Troy.

Prof. C. A. Devon was elected president of the reunion association; C. L. Weaver, vice president; Mrs. Ella B. Walker, Xenia, treasurer and Mrs. Laurel Thomas, Xenia, secretary.

CEDRINE CLUB IS ENTERTAINED.

Mrs. David McElroy and Mrs. J. H. Nagley were gracious hostesses to the Cedrine Club, at the home of Mrs. McElroy on the Stevenson Road, east of Xenia, Thursday afternoon.

Fairs, past and present furnished the program for the afternoon, the topic being inspired by the reason that this is state fair week.

Roll call was answered by the members with recalling some impression they had received or incident they had noted while attending fairs. An interesting paper on the beginning of fairs, was read by Mrs. Cameron Bickett. Mrs. Mae Bull gave some reminiscences of the world's fair in Chicago in 1893. The international stock fair was the subject of Mrs. O. E. Bradfute.

Miss Dorothy Hamlin delighted the women with three violin numbers. The hostesses served a salad course during the social hour which followed the program.

Masses of lovely flowers including zinnias and asters decorated the rooms.

Seventeen club members and four guests were present.

ENTERTAINS FOR XENIA VISITORS

Mrs. James M. Carper, N. Gallo- way St., entertained a small company at luncheon Wednesday for the pleasure of the Misses Mabel and Anna Robb of Knoxville, Tenn., formerly of Jamestown. They are the daughters of the late Dr. W. A. Robb.

Covers were laid for the Misses Robb, Miss Margaret Moorehead, Mrs. James P. Lytle, Mrs. H. H. Cherry of Xenia; Mrs. W. R. Mc- Chesney of Cedarville and Mrs. Thomas Turner of Boston, Mass. Garden flowers were used in attractively decorating the Carper home.

S. S. CLASS HONORS WIFE OF PASTOR.

Mrs. V. F. Brown, wife of the pastor of Trinity Church who with her husband will soon leave Xenia, Dr. Brown having asked to be released from his pastorate, was honor guest at a farewell party given by members of her Sunday school class at the home of Mrs. Teal White, Corwin Ave., Thursday evening. Twenty-one young women attended, and Mrs. Brown was presented a silver teaspoon as a gift from the class. Mrs. Helen Spahr made the presentation, reciting a bit of original verse, and Mrs. Brown made a gracious response. A salad course was served.

Mrs. Mary Mabel Turner, Wil- mington Pike, has arrived home after being the guest of Miss Dorothy Jean Curlett, Dayton, O., and attending her third birthday party Monday.

Mrs. Horace Turner, Wilmington Pike, entertained the White Chapel Ladies' Aid Society at her home Thursday afternoon. Twenty guests were present. The hostess served an ice course.

A delicious three course lunch was served by the women of Christ Church parish.

There were twenty-nine tables for bridge following luncheon. Mrs. E. A. Kern and Mrs. C. A. Kelble were hostesses to a large party, entertaining eighty for luncheon and fourteen tables for bridge. There were fifteen other table reservations for cards.

Mrs. R. A. Kelly was high score holder among the guests of Mrs. Kern and Mrs. Kelble, Mrs. Ward Huston, second, and Mrs. J. C. Dodds, third.

Numbered among their guests from out of the city were: Mrs. N. T. Pavey of Springfield; Mrs. Stewart Macaulay of Baltimore, Md.; Mrs. Edward Sutton, Dayton; Mrs. Henry L. Farrell and her house guest, Mrs. Edison of New York City; Mrs. Chester Hinkle, Dayton; Mrs. A. C. Messenger and her guest, Mrs. Harriman of Florida; Miss Clara H. Hagar, of Newark, N. J., the guest of Miss Sarah B. Hagar.

The parish house, which is admirably suited for the entertainment of a large company, was elaborately decorated in summer flowers.

The affair was in charge of Mrs. Charles W. Adair, who directed all the arrangements.

HOTESS TO CLUB

Mrs. F. C. Bishop of N. King St. was hostess to members of her sewing club, and a few other guests Thursday afternoon, the affair being arranged for the pleasure of Mrs. V. F. Brown. Women enjoyed the afternoon.

DEATH CLAIMS MISS NELLIE USTICK

HOMECOMING PLANS

READY FOR PROGRAM

MISS CLARA H. HAGAR

With plans completed for the homecoming at Spring Valley, Saturday, September 3, everything points to one of the most enjoyable affairs of the kind ever held in the county, according to the committee in charge. Favorable weather, which seems assured, is the only thing necessary now, those in charge of the home coming say.

THE ENTIRE PROGRAM

The entire program, so far as possible, will take place on the lawn of the Friends Church. The basket dinner will be served at noon and a program, largely of an informal nature, will be held in the afternoon.

SOME OF THE BETTER KNOWN PEOPLE

Some of the better known people among former residents attending will be asked to address the crowd. There will be music, a ball game and contests of many kinds in the afternoon with prizes to be awarded.

THE BAND WILL PLAY

The band will play throughout the day, and a band concert will be given at night.

THE REV. A. W. GORDON

The Rev. A. W. Gordon, missionary to India to whom Mrs. Gordon, Ig, is to be the guest of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Williamson over the weekend, will speak at the opening exercises of the Sunday School at the Second United Presbyterian Church Sunday morning. He will give a ten minute talk on "The Charm of the Christian Life."

THE REV. J. C. WILLIAMSON

Prof. and Mrs. John Orr Stewart and their little daughter Joan of Richmond, Ky., will arrive in Cedarville Friday evening for a visit with Prof. Stewart's parents, Dr. and Mrs. J. O. Stewart. They will remain until the quarantine for infantile paralysis in Kentucky is lifted. Their little son John is already at the Stewart home.

MRS. A. F. WILLIAMS

Mrs. A. F. Williams and son Orio of Freeport, Ill., are the guests of Mrs. Walter L. Dean, W. Market St. They will be joined Saturday by Mr. Williams, who has been in New York City and will be at the Dean home until after Labor Day.

BLAME RADICALS FOR DERAILMENT

PARIS, Sept. 2.—Sacco-Vanzetti sympathizers are believed by the police to have been responsible for the derailment of the Paris Bordeau express five miles west of Tours at midnight, causing the death of the engineer.

Investigation disclosed that twenty eight spikes had been removed from the rails, causing the tracks to spread when the train passed over the spot. The locomotive, tender and baggage car overturned. Four Pullman cars filled with passengers left the rails, but did not overturn.

None of the passengers was injured, but many of them received a severe shaking up.

WILLIAM HAMILTON DIES HERE FRIDAY

William Hamilton, 78, died at his home, 710 W. Second St., at 11:40 o'clock Friday morning following an illness of more than one year, from a complication of diseases.

Although in ill health for more than a year, his condition did not become serious until several days ago.

He had made his home in Xenia for the past forty years and was employed as a Pennsylvania Railroad carpenter for about that length of time, having been retired ten years ago.

His wife predeceased him in March, 1915.

Mr. Hamilton was born in South Lebanon, February 28, 1849, and was a member of the First Methodist Episcopal Church.

He is survived by three children, Mrs. Edward Chambliss, Xenia; Carl, Dayton, O., and Elmer, at home. Another child, Otto, died in infancy.

Funeral arrangements have not been completed.

Junior Business Men Win City Soft Ball Title

DEFEAT FIREMEN TO WIN CHAMPIONSHIP BY NARROW MARGIN

Class A Division Winners Take Tilt In Last Inning

Junior Business Men, Class A winners in the Xenia Play-ground League, reigned Friday as the 1927 soft ball champions of the city of Xenia.

The business men's nine came into the title by defeating the Firemen, Class B champions, 7 to 6 for the second time in three days in the most thrilling game of the season's competition Thursday night at Gex Memorial Athletic Field.

Trailing by two runs at the last half of the ninth inning opened, the Class A champs staged a dramatic rally with two out to register three runs and clinch the game and series.

It was a dramatic ninth inning and a dramatic finish for both teams. The rival nines went into the ninth with the score tied 4 to 4. Cope was safe at first when he beat out a hit. Buffington flied out and Dickey walked. J. Haller's hit scored Cope and the batter reached first safely. Dickey scored on an out at first, and the Firemen had a two-run lead for the first time in the game.

In the last half, the cause of the business men appeared lost when Hyman, batting for Eckerle, flied out and Frame also popped up. With two out and the bases empty, Purdon doubled along the left field foul line. Huit beat out a hit, Purdon taking third. Huit stole second, and both runners scored on McCurran's double to left. McCurran took third and crossed the plate with the winning run on Parrett's hot infield single.

Downey and Frame were the rivial batters. Downey hurled magnificent ball up until the time he weakened in the ninth, fanning several players and exhibiting rare control. He had opposing batters popping up constantly.

Firemen's lineup—Downey, p.; Cope, s.; Buffington, 3b; Dickey, cf.; J. Haller, 2b; Dice, c.; Banister, rf.; Fisher, lf.; Briley, 1b.; Huit, c.; McCurran, lf.; Parrett, 3b.; Highley, 1b.; Prugh, 2b.; Finlay, ss.; Eckerle, cf.; Frame, p.

Score by innings:

Firemen	0	1	0	1	0	2	0	0	2

Umpires—Boxwell at plate; Turnbull and Hornick at bases.

SCRATCH TOURNEY WILL START MONDAY AT COUNTRY CLUB

Play in the qualifying round of the annual fall "scratch" golf tournament at the Xenia Country Club will commence Labor Day, it is announced by Eber Reynolds, chairman of the tournament committee.

Players intending to participate in the tourney may play their qualifying round of eighteen holes any-time next week.

The sixteen golfers turning in the lowest cards for the two rounds will be eligible to enter the first round of match play the following week.

These sixteen will be divided into two flights of eight each. Elimination play in each flight will gradually reduce the field to the finals, the survivors in each flight finally meeting for the club championship.

Unlike the recent President's Cup tournament, entrants will not have the advantage of handicaps in the match play.

A handsome prize will be selected and will be awarded the tournament winner.

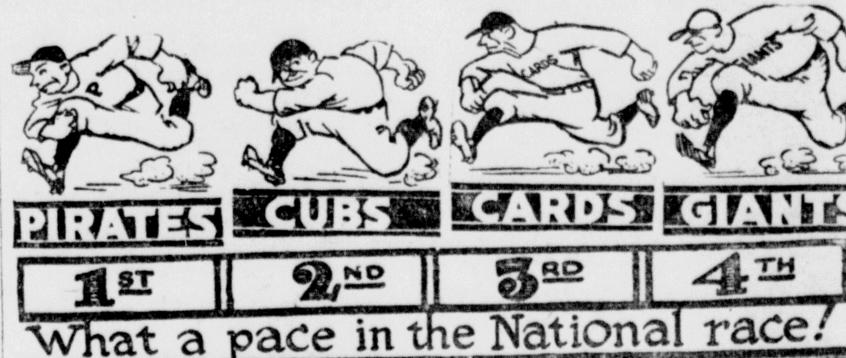

The Country Club links are expected to be crowded on the Labor Day holiday.

Women of the club will serve luncheon at the clubhouse at noon, and in the afternoon a mixed golf tournament will be staged, with members of both sexes eligible to compete.

NEW TRUSTEES FOR ANTIQUITY COLLEGE

PIRATES CUBS CARDS GIANTS

1ST 2ND 3RD 4TH

What a pace in the National race!

Announcement has been made of the appointment of three new trustees of Antioch College, taking the place of three who resigned from the board last spring.

They are Miss Jessie Moore, Dayton attorney, who is identified with the law firm of James and Condie; Mrs. J. W. Armstrong of Erie, Pa., who has taken a particular interest in Antioch College, and Ralph Rounds, New York attorney, who is also a trustee of the Keith Fund.

Resignations from the board had been accepted from James West, New York, executive secretary of the Boy Scouts of America; Edwin F. Gay, professor of economics at Harvard University, and F. D. Slutz, former principal of Moraine Park school, Dayton.

Dean Phillip C. Nash said that acceptances from the appointees had just been received.

Antioch College will open next Tuesday. There will be about 680 students admitted, according to Dean Nash.

FOGWELL WINNER OF STATE FAIR EVENT

All Bingen, by Joe Dodge, owned by Ed Fogwell, Osborn trainer, was driven by Fogwell to a straight heat victory in the 2:13 pace for the Buckeye $1,200 purse, fifth battle on the Ohio State Fair harness racing card at Columbus Thursday.

All Bingen defeated a field of six other pacers and made remarkably good time. The pacer's time in the three heats was 2:09% and 2:08%.

YOUTH BOUND OVER IN SHOOTING CASE

Clarence Garrett, 22, colored, Jamestown Pike, was bound over to the grand jury under $250 bond on a charge of attempted assault and threatening to shoot Roy Minor, a crippled neighbor youth, by R. O. Copsey, justice of the peace, following a hearing Friday morning.

Garrett had pleaded not guilty and was discharged when he furnished ball. The trouble is said to have been the outgrowth of a neighbor's quarrel.

A handsome prize will be selected and will be awarded the tournament winner.

The Country Club links are expected to be crowded on the Labor Day holiday.

Women of the club will serve luncheon at the clubhouse at noon, and in the afternoon a mixed golf tournament will be staged, with members of both sexes eligible to compete.

A Nickel Buys a Cool Sweet Cigar Made From Fragrant Ripe Tobacco. News for Particular Smokers

Really satisfying smokes at a nickel each! You've probably had hard luck trying to find a genuinely good cigar at five cents. You may say, "There's no such animal." If you'll only try your luck once again, you're going to win!

Don't take our word for it that Havana Ribbon is a cigar that will amaze you. Just dig up a solitary nickel and shove it across the counter in your favorite cigar store. Say "Havana Ribbon" and put a match to a smoke that says "quality" from the first puff.

Havana Ribbon sold at more than a nickel for years. Smokers liked it and bought it by the million. We sold so many that we could bring down the price and improve the cigar. Today we don't think you can buy anything approaching Havana Ribbon for five cents. It costs only a nickel to find out for yourself.

BANDIT-ATTACK SURVIVORS HOME FIRST LEGIONNAIRES ARRIVE FOR PARIS CONVENTION

GETS WEALTH

ATTEMPTS TO SAVE LONGHORNS

CLAIMED "MOST VALUABLE GROUP OF CHILDREN"

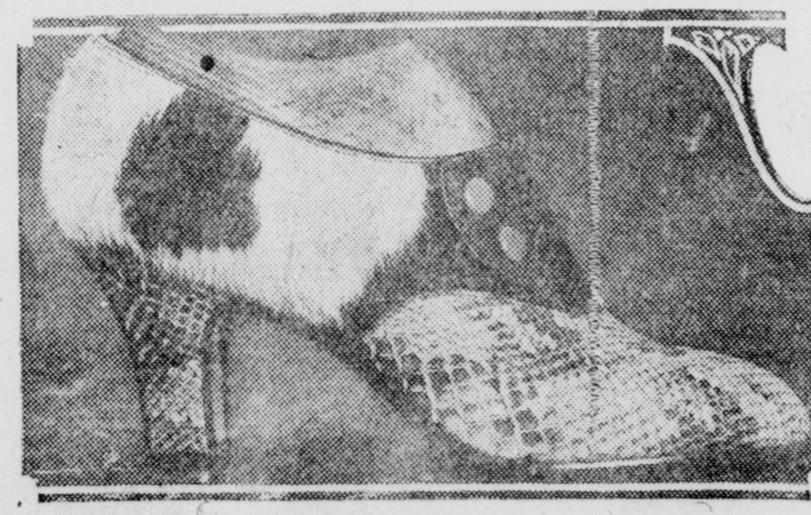

This group of children, above, is declared to be the most valuable ever assembled, as far as actual dollars and cents are concerned. Their annual earning capacity totals in excess of half a million dollars. They are famous screen youngsters, of Hollywood, and this picture shows them at a party given by Mickie Daniels and Peggy Eames upon their return from an eastern trip. Mickie is shown dishing out ice cream cones for the guests.

CHILD SUFFERS FRACTURE OF SKULL WHEN STRUCK BY AUTO

Suffering from a fracture of the skull received when she was struck by an automobile while playing in the street near her home at 7 o'clock Thursday evening, Jean Sodders, 2-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Otto Sodders of Jamestown, is in a serious condition.

The child, playing with several other children, ran across the street in front of a car driven by Eugene Gordon. The driver of the automobile applied the brakes and swerved the machine in an effort to avoid the child, but a fender struck her and knocked her down. The skull was fractured on one side.

FORMER RESIDENT CALLED BY DEATH

George Frank Currie, 59, former resident of Greene County, died at his home, 509 S. Fountain Ave., Springfield, at 10:30 a.m. Thursday, day of apoplexy.

Mr. Currie was born on the Jamestown Pike east of Xenia in 1868. He married Miss Ida M. Corry of Springfield, October 25, 1894, and she survives him with two children, James Leroy Currie and Pauline Brown Currie both of Springfield, and two brothers, William B. Currie of Santa Ana, Calif., and Arch C. Currie of Springfield.

Funeral services will be conducted at the home Saturday at 2:30, and interment will take place in Fern Cliff Cemetery, Springfield.

low Springs and Springfield. He is survived by one son, Ralph, near Rocky Point; four sisters, Mrs. C. A. Littleton, Mrs. Ford Kershner and Mrs. William Huston, all of Yellow Springs; and Mrs. Charles Dudley, Springfield; and four brothers, Oliver, near Springfield; Bert Sparrow, Columbus, instructor in the physics laboratory at Ohio State University; Warren, of Alabama; and George, Beattytown, Ohio.

Funeral services for Sparrow will be held at 2:30 o'clock Sunday afternoon at the home of his son, Ralph, with burial in the Enon Cemetery.

Coroner Chambliss declared the question has arisen as to whether the machine was owned by Sparrow. The license number was distinguished as being either 312,317 or 372,317.

Greene County Auto Club officials say the former number would have been issued at St. Clairsville, Belmont County, while the latter tag was issued to William Carroll, Springfield, for a Ford touring car.

Coroner Chambliss partially identified the man as one whom he had known by the nickname of "Bull," Forest Gordon, Jamestown, viewed the body at the Burr funeral parlors Friday afternoon and thought he recognized him as a man by the name of Forest Lugg, Yellow Springs, of whom he had purchased a Ford roadster and who was to bring the machine to Jamestown Friday morning.

No arrests of double parking offenders have been made by police, the campaign being largely educational, in view of the fact that although there is no time limit on curb parking here, motorists who park at the curb early Saturday and keep their machines there all day are more guilty of the double parking evil than the double parking offenders themselves.

Merchants who park their autos in front of their own places of business on Saturdays for the convenience of members of their own family and then leave them there all day, are to blame for the double parking evil, Shagin believes.

In addition he believes they are doing

POLICE THREATEN TIME LIMIT FOR PARKING TO BREAK UP EVIL

A parking limiting ordinance is a police threat in the campaign to break up double-parking on streets in the business section.

Peter Shagin, motorcycle policeman, who is directing the campaign, says:

After a drive of two or three weeks to educate motorists against double parking, Shagin now believes that an ordinance that will limit the time autos to be parked at the curb may be the only solution of the situation.

Three men witnessed the crash from a distance. They were P. F. Redmon, ticket agent at the James- town B. and O. station, John Hardy, also employed at the station, and a third man whose name was not learned. They were questioned by the coroner.

The train was operating between Xenia and Washington C. H. and was in charge of Conductor Sweeney. The train was due through Jamestown at 8:45 and was running on time.

The body of Sparrow was removed to the undertaking establishment of Earl and M. F. Littleton brothers, Yellow Springs funeral directors, in the Littleton ambulance. The Littleton brothers are nephews of Sparrow.

Sparrow, who is a widower, lived on a farm near Enon between Yellows and Springfield. He is survived by one son, Ralph, near Rocky Point; four sisters, Mrs. C. A. Littleton, Mrs. Ford Kershner and Mrs. William Huston, all of Yellow Springs; and Mrs. Charles Dudley, Springfield; and four brothers, Oliver, near Springfield; Bert Sparrow, Columbus, instructor in the physics laboratory at Ohio State University; Warren, of Alabama; and George, Beattytown, Ohio.

With this in view Shagin is appealing to merchants and others who occupy parking space all day Saturday to be considerate of the rights of others and be inclined to be lax on double parking offenders because the inconsiderate parking of others prevents them from finding a curb space vacant. A time limiting ordinance would prevent all-day parking along the curb line and would eliminate double parking, he believes, and police will advocate such an ordinance as a drastic measure to prevent double parking if the situation does not improve.

The train crew carried the unconscious men into the baggage room at the B. and O. freight depot at Jamestown. Sparrow was dead when found, but his companion was still living.

Sparrow sustained a broken neck and concussion of the brain and his body was badly mangled.

The unidentified man received internal injuries, his right arm and both legs and chest were crushed.

Coroner F. M. Chambliss is making every effort to establish his identity. He has made a preliminary examination.

An important factor in the producing and refining of Loreco petroleum products is the Pipe Line Department. Hundreds of miles of pipe line are laid from the fields to the tank farms and again from the tank farms to the refineries—sometimes with the greatest of difficulties—and a crew of some two or three hundred people is employed in Loreco's Pipe Line Department alone.

"Line walkers" patrol these lines constantly watching for breaks and leaks, and hourly telephone reports are made over the company's private wires tabulating the quantity and grade of oil conveyed. "Booster stations"—great pumps—are maintained at important points along these lines for keeping the crude oil in motion.

Necessarily, the investment in such equipment is great, and the loyalty of hundreds of employees in this department, many of whom must be stationed at lonely places, is one of the romances of modern industry.

FUN FOR THE WHOLE FAMILY

Peter's Adventures

BY MRS. FLORENCE SMITH VINCENT

TORTOISE'S MEAT IS TWO-LEG'S POISON
 Jack-in-the-Box made a queer noise with his jaws—it sounded as though he was smacking his lips—patted himself with his claw upon the spot where his stomach ought to have been—if it wasn't—and winked one eye at the boy.
 "Yum! Yum! Good!" said he.

"I COULD SPARE A SLICE OR TWO TO A FRIEND LIKE YOU."

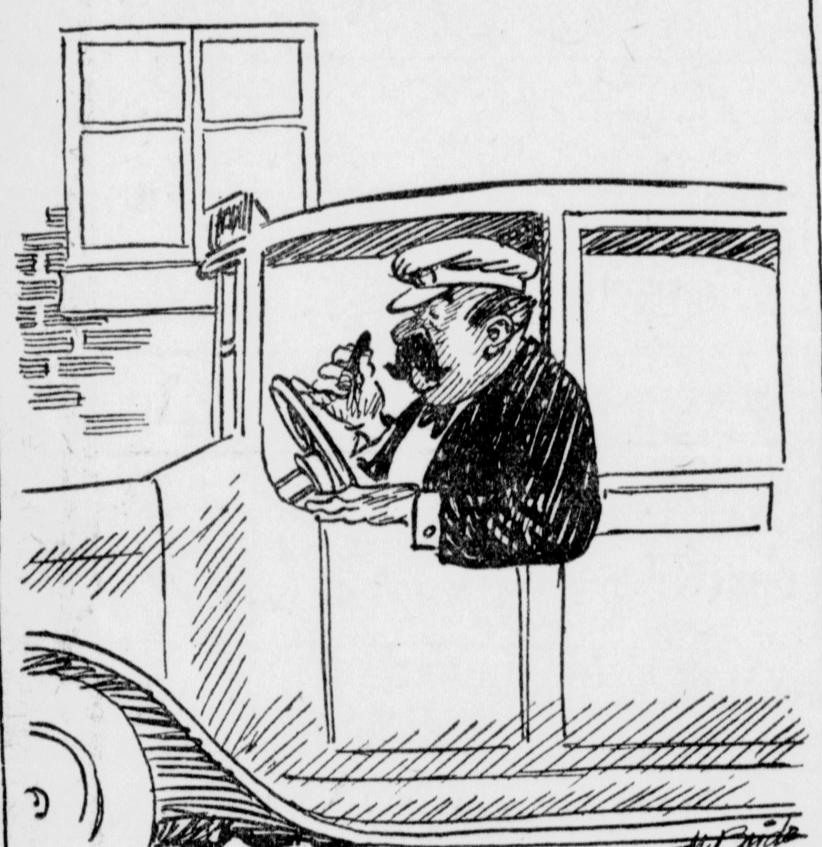

"If you want to taste a juicy, sweet tidbit you want to dine on Toadstool. Nothing like it in the world, I say! I don't suppose you even know how to eat it?"

"I should say not," declared Peter. "Toadstools may be the best sort of meat to a Tortoise, but they are poison to a Two-Legs!"

"Is that so?" asked Jack-in-the-Box, much interested. "I am sorry to hear that, for I was just about to ask you to join me at my feast. I could spare a slice or two to a friend like you."

Peter smiled. "That's generous of you and I am much obliged, but I wouldn't dare risk even a bite. If I should along the roads."

Sally's Shoulders

by BEATRICE BURTON, Author of "HER MAN", "HONEY LOU", "THE HOLLYWOOD GIRL", ETC.

"Don't let her come any of that stuff on you, Sally."

CHAPTER LIII
If Aunt Em had one human weakness in her make-up, it was her affection for Sally's father.

He might be the black sheep of the family. He might have won her scorn by deserting his family years before. But she loved him nevertheless as a very upright and capable human being will love one who is weak and full of faults.

So Sally went straight to her with the message from her mother.

"Now, isn't that just like them! Sending to me for a hundred dollars just as if I could go and pick it off one of those bushes in the back yard!" cried Aunt Em, waving her arm angrily toward the red currant bushes that filled a triangle of ground beyond the driveway. "They're like a couple of crazy children—your mother and father. They have no more sense than a pair of babies!"

She dusted some flour from her slender hands, untied her aprons, and still scolding, hurried upstairs to get some money from the photograph album in her trunk. She always kept bills in between the pages of the old album. No burglar, she always maintained, would think of looking for money in between the pictures of Grandfather Jerome and Aunt Katy and all the rest of the Jeromes who had been dead for many years.

Sally was relieved when she saw her climb into her car and roll down the driveway in the direction of the nearest telegraph office, to wire Mrs. Jerome the money she wanted.

She did not want Aunt Em in the house when Beau's new-found friend arrived.

"If Aunt Em knew that Beau was running around with a girl she'd throw him out of the house head first," thought Sally, hurrying into some fresh clothes and running a quick comb through the soft, dark waves of her hair.

The half clock was chiming the half hour after 5 when the front door bell rang sharply. Buttoning her coat, Sally flew down the stairs.

The girl who stood waiting on the front porch was just the sort of girl she would expect Beau to pick out. She was dark and slender and flashy-looking, as Mabel had been in those care-free days before she had had a husband.

There were dimples in her cheeks, and a particularly bright shade of raspberry rouge. Her lips were a gash of scarlet in her small face.

When she spoke her voice had the same brassy quality that Mabel's voice had:

"Are you Beau's sister? Is he here yet?"

Sally opened the screen door and let her in. She stepped into the hall, and a sweeping odor of heliotrope perfume came in with her. She jingled as she walked—head fringes on her handbag, a dozen bracelets on her slender bare arms, anklets under her chiffon stockings.

"Won't you come in here, please?" asked Sally, and led her down the long hall to Aunt Em's tiny "office" at the very end of it. She shut the door behind them and locked it.

Then she faced Beau's lady love, and found her staring at her in wide-eyed astonishment.

"Why did you look that door?" she gasped, and Sally gave that swift, sunshiny smile of hers that could mean so much or so little.

"I don't want," she answered slowly and deliberately. "I don't want Beau's wife to come in while you're here."

The girl's round hazel eyes became still more round.

"Who's Beau?"

"My brother. The person you call 'Bud,'" said Sally, and sat down upon the edge of Aunt Em's desk chair. "You didn't know he was married, did you?"

The girl's face was all the answer she needed. It was blank with amazement and bewilderment. White as a sheet of paper, and almost as empty. "Oh, no," she said in a very small voice.

"Well, he is," Sally went on. "He has a baby, too. That's what I want to talk to you about. You mustn't."

She never finished the sentence. She saw that she did not need to finish saying what she was going to say.

For the girl sprang up from the straight chair where she had been sitting and started for the locked door. "Just let me get out of here. Just let me out! Married! Oh, my gosh! I don't want nothing to do with no married men. Let me out!"

Sally could have laughed at her anxiety to get away and her truly funny expression of fear, if she had not felt like crying, too. It seemed such a dreadful thing for Beau to do—to pick up a girl of this type for an evening's wild escapade when he had a tiny son upstairs and a wife who was willing to go to work for him. Sally had gained a lot of respect for the jazzy, brassy little Mabel during the past day and a half.

She turned the key in the door and the girl, whose name she did not thought about him. . . . What was it the silly, popular song said? "But when I hate you—it's 'cause I love you—It was silly, but it was true."

I heard all about what really happened between her and John Nye from Miss Kress. I told you I'd find out, and I did!"

DOVER ENG., Sept. 2.—With the hope of being the first woman to swim the English Channel twice, Mrs. Mille Gade Corson of New York will start from Dover at 5:30 o'clock this afternoon for Cape-Gris-Nez. Mrs. Corson swam from the French side last year and, if successful today, will be the first woman to swim from the English side.

"You don't like him because Millie's trying to make you think that he got smart with her!" chirped Mabel, nodding her head wisely. "But don't let her come any of that stuff on you!"

FRENCH ATTEMPT TO CROSS ATLANTIC FAILURE

FLYERS FORCED BACK WHEN BALKED BY FOG

Leon Givon and Pierre Corbu Return Farman Plane
After Starting For America By Southern

LE BOURGET FLYING FIELD, PARIS, Sept. 2.—The attempt of Leon Givon and Pierre Corbu to cross the Atlantic in the Farman biplane "Bluebird" ended at ten o'clock this morning when the fliers, balked by a heavy fog, landed here three hours and a half after the take-off.

Givon and Corbu hopped off in the "Bluebird" shortly before 6:30 o'clock this morning. Two hours later they returned, and circled about over the airfield, emptying the gas tanks of the huge plane so that a landing might be effected.

Givon, the pilot, brought the big plane back to earth at ten o'clock. The attempt cost $5,000 through the loss of the gasoline Givon was forced to throw overboard to make his landing.

Expressing deep regret that he had to give up the attempt, Givon explained that bad weather forced him to turn back.

The return of the plane brought mixed air while his navigator looked at Le Bourget, but universal gratification was expressed that Givon elected to turn back rather than risk his life and that of his navigator by flying in adverse weather.

Cheered by hundreds of persons who had gathered at Le Bourget in the early morning hours, Givon and Corbu set out in an attempt to succeed where their countrymen, Captains Nungesser and Coli, had failed. The flight was started in the massive Farman Goliath biplane which Maurice Drouhin originally was to pilot to New York. A contract with Charles D. Levine alienated Drouhin from the ranks of aviation hoping to fly across the ocean.

The flight was sponsored by Henri Farman, aeronautical pioneer and builder of the plane. The Bluebird was wheeled from her hangar early today, and all preparations for the flight completed. The aviators took their seats in the cockpit, and the engines were started. The flight almost ended in disaster at the outset, for a backfire from one of the three-motors sent forth a sheet of flame which, however, was extinguished by a mechanic, who rushed to the plane and smothered the blaze with his cap.

Givon and Corbu had planned to take the southern route to America, passing over the Azores and Bermuda.

The Bluebird was saturated with gasoline when it returned to the field, and the crowds were kept away from the gigantic plane for fear a lighted cigarette might cause a fire.

Givon started explaining how wonderfully the plane had acted, but newspaper correspondents who had waited up all night for the take-off, interrupted, asking: "Why did you return?"

Givon, with the sarcasm characteristic of the youthfulnier, replied: "Because the weather was too fine."

Later, however, he added: "Everything would have been all right but it's no fun flying in the dark."

The Bluebird was returned to its hangar and the doors closed. Veteran pilots shook their heads, declaring the crew should have continued a few hours at least to determine whether the fog was merely local, or whether it extended out over the ocean. Some of the airmen at the field remarked that Givon and Corbu did not speak to each other after the plane had landed, and that Givon had a sat-

INVESTIGATORS OF FLOGGING PROBING IMPORTANT CLEWS

Several Questioned By
Prosecutor — May
Call Jury

AKRON, O., Sept. 2.—Investigators in the Alfred Harris flogging case, at Kent, announced today that they had several important clues and that a number of arrests are imminent.

Several persons are to be questioned today by Oscar Hunsicker, Summit County prosecutor, and other county and private investigators.

Harris was taken from City Hospital here yesterday to his home at Kent, and later to a place near Darrowville where he says he was beaten by eight masked men and thrown from an automobile last Tuesday morning.

It was definitely decided that the flogging took place in Summit county and it is believed a grand jury probe will develop here. Portage County authorities are said to be interested only in the kidnapping of Harris from his furniture workshop, but no report of their progress has been made public.

Harris continues to implicate Kent police in the affair and he also revealed today that the petition, said to have been sought by the men, was a request to Governor Donahue that he investigate the Kent police department and remove Mayor William Harvey and Police Chief George Trahern.

The Bluebird was returned to its hangar and the doors closed. Veteran pilots shook their heads, declaring the crew should have continued a few hours at least to determine whether the fog was merely local, or whether it extended out over the ocean. The Bluebird was returned to its hangar and the doors closed. Veteran pilots shook their heads, declaring the crew should have continued a few hours at least to determine whether the fog was merely local, or whether it extended out over the ocean. Some of the airmen at the field remarked that Givon and Corbu did not speak to each other after the plane had landed, and that Givon had a sat-

ANTIOCH COLLEGE TO OPEN NEXT TUESDAY WITH 680 STUDENTS

Antioch College will open Tues- en in office and clerical tasks, as laboratory assistants, correcting papers and stenographic work."

Arthur E. Morgan, president of the college, announced Thursday that considerable increase in equipment to the electrical engineering laboratory of the college has been made possible through the special co-operation of the General Electric Co.

In making the award, the following statement was issued by officials of the company:

"In this way we also wish to express our cordial appreciation of the earnest work that is being done by Antioch College in furnishing a sound education to her students, and to acknowledge the benefits that the General Electric Co. receives from your institution in securing trained men for their organization."

"The equipment noted consists of a 5-KVA motor generator set, eight electrical instruments, three transformers and one AC motor with control. With these additions, the electrical laboratory will be well equipped for fundamental training in electrical engineering."

Ralph Davis, New Burlington, was fined $10 and costs and sentenced to serve six months in the County Jail on a charge of non-support Thursday afternoon by Probate Judge S. C. Wright, who then suspended the jail sentence and fine upon Davis' agreement to pay the costs and $5 per week to the court toward the support of his seven-year-old child.

Dean Nash speaks of the second innovation as follows: "Partly to teach young people to carry on their part of the social load, and partly to help their own education, all students above the first two years will be expected to take five hours of work each week to the college, usually helping the professors in their special fields."

"Students at the close of the last year were asked to name several preferences in class work, and fully 90 per cent of the students were placed according to their expressed first wish, and work undertaken at the November election, in field, presented a bill at the last session of the legislature, which was later passed, allowing school board to apportion maintenance costs pro rata, according to the number of students attending from each of the districts supporting it.

This decision was arrived at by members of the school board at Yellow Springs following a meeting this week.

At present, the board has deposited $42,000 for erection of a high school building, voted more than ten years ago.

War prices and post war prices made it impossible to build at this figure and due to previous apportionment of maintenance costs on the present building between village and township districts, the township board attempted to withdraw its support, thus leaving the hands of the village board.

The obstacle was partially cleared, when Horace Keifer, Spring-groves,

Many Attend Luncheon- Recital-Bridge Here

With about 175 women in attendance the luncheon-recital and bridge given at Christ Church parish house Thursday was an unusually delightful affair.

The handsome new baby grand piano recently purchased by Christ Church for the parish house was given its first introduction to the public at the recital. Miss Marjorie Street, popular young pianist, accompanied her sister, Miss Lois Street, cellist, and Miss Zella Soward, soprano, in a number of delightful selections, the program

Two hundred persons attended the annual reunion of former pupils, patrons and teachers of Needmore school, on the schoolgrounds south of Xenia Thursday.

The company participated in a basket dinner at noon, and in the afternoon enjoyed an impromptu program. Judge L. E. St. Johns of Troy, who was a former teacher as well as one time pupil of the school, gave a reminiscence talk, as did Prof. C. A. Devoe of Bowersville, and Clarence S. St. John of Miami, Fla. Community singing was lead by Prof. J. F. Keiter.

Among persons from outside Greene County who attended the reunion were: Mr. and Mrs. Carl Anderson and family of Bellefontaine; Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Adair, of Chillicothe; Mr. and Mrs. O. E. Painter and son Paul of Richmond, Ind.; Mrs. Meller Oglesby, Robert Oglesby, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hunnicutt, and daughters, Susanna and Priscilla, Miss Sarah Fife and Joseph Fife, of Wilmington; Mr. and Mrs. Walter Weaver and son of Winchester, Ind.; Mr. and Mrs. C. S. St. John and daughter of Miami, Fla.; Judge Walter St. John and family of Troy.

Prof. C. A. Devoe was elected president of the reunion association; C. L. Weaver, vice president; Mrs. Ella B. Walker, Xenia, treasurer and Mrs. Laurel Thomas, Xenia, secretary.

CEDRINE CLUB IS ENTERTAINED

Mrs. David McElroy and Mrs. J. H. Nagley were gracious hostesses to the Cedrine Club, at the home of Mrs. McElroy on the Stevenson Road, east of Xenia, Thursday afternoon.

Fairs, past and present furnished the program for the afternoon, the topic being inspired by the reason that this is state fair week.

Roll call was answered by the members with recalling some impression they had received or incident they had noted while attending fairs. An interesting paper on the beginning of fairs was read by Mrs. Cameron Bickett. Mrs. Mae Bull gave some reminiscences of the world's fair in Chicago in 1893. The international stock fair was the subject of Mrs. O. E. Bradfute.

Miss Dorothy Hamlin delighted the women with three violin numbers. The hostesses served a salad course during the social hour which followed the program.

Masses of lovely flowers including zinnias and asters decorated the rooms.

Seventeen club members and four guests were present.

ENTERTAINS FOR XENIA VISITORS

Mrs. James M. Carper, N. Gallo-way St., entertained a small company at luncheon Wednesday for the pleasure of the Misses Mabel and Anna Robb of Knoxville, Tenn., formerly of Jamestown. They are the daughters of the late Dr. W. A. Robb.

Covers were laid for the Misses Robb, Miss Margaret Moorehead, Mrs. James P. Lytle, Mrs. H. H. Cherry of Xenia; Mrs. W. R. Chesney of Cedarville and Mrs. Thomas Turner of Boston, Mass. Garden flowers were used in attractively decorating the Carper home.

S. S. CLASS HONORS

Mrs. V. F. Brown, wife of the pastor of Trinity Church who with her husband will soon leave Xenia, Dr. Brown having asked to be released from his pastorate, was honor guest at a farewell party given by members of her Sunday school class at the home of Mrs. Thearle White, Corwin Ave., Thursday evening. Twenty-one young women attended, and Mrs. Brown was presented a silver teaspoon as a gift from the class. Mrs. Helen Spahr made the presentation, reciting a bit of original verse, and Mrs. Brown made a gracious response. A salad course was served.

ENTERTAINS PAST CHIEFS CLUB

Members of the Past Chief Club, Pythian Sisters, were received by Mrs. Gertrude Ball at her home on N. Detroit St., Thursday afternoon.

Ten members and one guest were present. Routine business of the club was transacted and the afternoon was spent in an informal manner. Refreshments were also served the guests.

Mrs. Mary Mabel Turner, Wilmington Pike, has arrived home after being the guest of Miss Dorothy Jean Curlett, Dayton, O., and attending her third birthday party Monday.

taking place during the luncheon period and lasting for an hour and a half. All the young artists were at their best, and their part of the afternoon was one of the unusually delightful features.

A delicious three course luncheon was served by the women of Christ Church parish.

There were twenty-nine tables for bridge following luncheon. Mrs. E. A. Kern and Mrs. C. A. Keibler were hostesses to a large party, entertaining eighty-four for luncheon and fourteen tables for bridge. There were fifteen other table reservations for cards.

Mrs. R. A. Kelly was high score holder among the guests of Mrs. W. O. Custis at 10 o'clock Tuesday morning, to be followed by a covered dish luncheon.

Annual Peele family reunion will be held at the usual time at the Grassy Run Church near Sabina September 4. All relatives and friends are asked to attend Sunday School and church. A basket dinner will be enjoyed in the grove immediately after the services.

Mr. and Mrs. P. C. Bankerd and "Billy" of N. Detroit St., returned home Friday morning after spending two weeks visiting in northern Nebraska, Kansas and Missouri.

The affair was in charge of Mrs. Charles W. Adair, who directed all the arrangements.

HOSTESS TO CLUB

Mrs. F. C. Bishop of N. King St. was hostess to members of her sewing club, and a few other guests Thursday afternoon, the affair being arranged for the pleasure of Mrs. V. F. Brown. Women enjoyed the afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Warren Brownie, and daughter, Helen, of Little York, Ill., have been visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Wheeler, W. Market St. They left Xenia Friday morning to go to Clayville, Penn., for a visit.

Mrs. Sallie Eyler of Leaman St. is visiting Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Sutton, at Waterbury Resort on Indian Lake.

Mrs. J. W. Peterson and the Misses Belle and Callie Hawkins, 341 Washington St., had as their dinner guests Thursday evening, Mrs. Frances Creamer, of Springfield; Dr. and Mrs. W. H. Batson of Vermillion, S. D., who have just returned from a Bible conference at Silver Bay, N. Y., Mr. Roth Creamer, of Philadelphia; Miss Marguerite O'neill, who is engaged in W. C. A. work at Lake Forest, Ill., and who has just returned after a European tour. Mr. and Mrs. James Hawkins, and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hawkins and daughter, of the Fairground Road.

Miss Clara H. Hagar, of Newark, N. J., who has been the guest of Miss Sarah B. Hagar, N. Gallo-way St., for a few days, stopping while enroute home from Chicago, will return east Saturday evening.

HOMECOMING PLANS READY FOR PROGRAM

Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Dixon, of S. Detroit St., and Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Andrews and daughters, of the Jamestown Pike, have returned home after visiting relatives in Connerville, Penn. While in Pennsylvania they had the pleasure of hearing their former pastor at the First U. P. Church here. Dr. D. D. Dodds, preach. Mr. and Mrs. Andrews and children returned home by way of Cleveland to visit Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Custis.

Private funeral services for Mrs. Melissa Redfern, who died at her home, 302 W. Main St., Wednesday night, will be held at the home of friends in Woodland Cemetery. Friends may call any time after 7 o'clock Friday night.

The Rev. A. W. Gordon, missionary to India who with Mrs. Gordon, is to be the guest of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Williamson over the week end, will speak at the opening exercises of the Sunday School at the Second United Presbyterian Church Sunday morning. He will give a ten minute talk on "The Church of the Christian Life."

Prof. and Mrs. John Orr Stewart and their little daughter Joan of Richmond, Ky., will arrive in Cedarville Friday evening for a visit with Prof. Stewart's parents, Dr. and Mrs. J. O. Stewart. They will remain until the quarantine for infantile paralysis in Kentucky is lifted. Their little son John is already at the Stewart home.

Mrs. A. F. Williams and son Orlo, of Freeport, Ill., are the guests of Mrs. Walter L. Dean, W. Market St. They will be joined Saturday by Mr. Williams, who has been in New York City and will be at the Dean home until after Labor Day.

BLAME RADICALS FOR DERAILMENT

PARIS, Sept. 2.—Sacco-Vanzetti sympathizers are believed by the police to have been responsible for the derailment of the Paris Bordeux express five miles west of Tours at midnight, causing the death of the engineer.

Investigation disclosed that twenty-eight spikes had been removed from the rails, causing the tracks to spread when the train passed over the spot. The locomotive, tender and baggage car overturned. Four Pullman cars filled with passengers left the rails, but did not overturn.

None of the passengers was injured, but many of them received severe shaking up.

WILLIAM HAMILTON DIES HERE FRIDAY

William Hamilton, 78, died at his home, 710 W. Second St., at 11:40 o'clock Friday morning following an illness of more than one year, from a complication of diseases.

Although in ill health for more than a year, his condition did not become serious until several days ago.

He had made his home in Xenia for the past forty years and was employed as a Pennsylvania Railroad carpenter for about that length of time, having been retired ten years ago.

His wife preceded him in death in March, 1915.

Mr. Hamilton was born in South Lebanon, February 28, 1849, and was a member of the First Methodist Episcopal Church.

He is survived by three children, Mrs. Edward Chambliss, Xenia; Carl, Dayton, O., and Elmer, at home. Another child, Otto, died in infancy.

Funeral arrangements have not been completed.

Junior Business Men Win City Soft Ball Title

DEFEAT FIREMEN TO WIN CHAMPIONSHIP BY NARROW MARGIN

Class A Division Winners Take Tilt In Last Inning

Junior Business Men, Class A winners in the Xenia Play-ground League, reigned Friday as the 1927 soft ball champions of the city of Xenia.

The business men's nine came into the title by defeating the Firemen, Class B champions, 7 to 6 for the second time in three days in the most thrilling game of the season's competition Thursday night at Gox Memorial Athletic Field.

Trailing by two runs at the last half of the ninth inning opened, the Class A champs staged a dramatic rally with two out to register three runs and clinch the game and series.

It was a dramatic ninth inning and a dramatic finish for both teams. The rival nines went into the ninth with the score tied 4 to 4.

Cope was safe first when he beat out a hit. Buffington then beat and Dickey walked. J. Haller's hit scored Cope and the batter reached first safely. Dickey scored an out at first, and the Firemen had a two-run lead for the first time in the game.

In the last half, the cause of the business men appeared lost when Hyman, batting for Eckerle, flied out and Frame also popped up. With two out and the bases empty, Purdon doubled along the left field foul line. Huit beat out a hit, Purdon taking third. Huit stole second, and both runners scored on McCurran's double to left. McCurran took third and crossed the plate with the winning run on Parrett's hot infield single.

Downey and Frame were the rivial hurlers. Downey hurled magnificent ball up until the time he weakened in the ninth, fanning several players and exhibiting rare control. He had opposing batters popping up constantly.

SCRATCH TOURNEY WILL START MONDAY AT COUNTRY CLUB

All Bingen, by Joe Dodge, owned by Ed Fogwell, Osborn painter, was driven by Fogwell to a straight beat victory in the 13 pace for the Buckeye $1,200 purse, fifth batch on the Ohio State Fair harness racing card at Columbus Thursday.

All Bingen defeated a field of six other pacers and made remarkably good time. The pacer's time in the three heats was 2:09%, 2:08% and 2:08%.

Players intending to participate in the tourney may play their qualifying round of eighteen holes anytime next week.

The sixteen golfers turning in the lowest cards for the two rounds will be eligible to enter the first round of match play the following week.

These sixteen will be divided into two flights of eight each. Elimination play in each flight will gradually reduce the field to the finals, the survivors in each flight finally meeting for the club championship.

Unlike the recent President's Cup tournament, entrants will not have the advantage of handicaps in the match play.

A handsome prize will be selected and will be awarded the tournament winner.

The Country Club links are expected to be crowded on the Labor Day holiday.

Women of the club will serve luncheon at the clubhouse at noon, and in the afternoon mixed golf tournament will be staged, with members of both sexes eligible to compete.

A Nickel Buys a Cool Sweet Cigar Made From Fragrant Ripe Tobacco. News for Particular Smokers

Really satisfying smokes at a nickel each! You've probably had hard luck trying to find a genuinely good cigar at five cents. You must say, "There's no such animal." If you'll only try our luck once again, you're going to win!

Don't take our word for it that Havana Ribbon is a cigar that will amaze you. Just dig up a solitary nickel and shove it across the counter in your favorite cigar store. Say "Havana Ribbon" and put a match to a smoke that says "quality" from the first puff.

Havana Ribbon sold at more than nickel for years. Smokers liked it and bought it by the million. We sold so many that we could bring down the price and improve the cigar. Today we don't think you can buy anything approaching Havana Ribbon for five cents. It costs only a nickel to find out for yourself.

NEW TRUSTEES FOR ANTIQUITY COLLEGE

What a pace in the National race!

Announcement has been made of the appointment of three new trustees of Antioch College, taking the place of three who resigned from the board last spring.

They are Miss Bessie Moore, Dayton attorney, who is identified with the law firm of James and Coolidge; Mrs. J. W. Armstrong of Erie, Pa., who has taken a particular interest in Antioch College, and Ralph Rounds, New York attorney, who is also a trustee of the Fund.

Resignations from the board had been accepted from James West, New York, executive secretary of the Boy Scouts of America; Edwin F. Gay, professor of economics at Harvard University, and F. D. Slutz, former principal of Moraine Park school, Dayton.

Dean Phillip C. Nash said that acceptances from the appointees have just been received.

Antioch College will be open next Tuesday. There will be about 680 students admitted, according to Dean Nash.

YOUTH BOUND OVER IN SHOOTING CASE

Clarence Garrett, 22, colored, Jamestown Pike, was bound over to the grand jury under $250 bond on a charge of attempted assault and threatening to shoot Roy Minor, a crippled neighbor youth, by R. O. Copsey, justice of the peace, following a hearing Friday morning.

Garrett had pleaded not guilty and was discharged when he furnished bail. The trouble is said to have been the outgrowth of a neighbor's quarrel.

A handsome prize will be selected and will be awarded the tournament winner.

The Country Club links are expected to be crowded on the Labor Day holiday.

Women of the club will serve luncheon at the clubhouse at noon, and in the afternoon mixed golf tournament will be staged, with members of both sexes eligible to compete.

NATIONAL CASH REGISTER TEAM WINS QUOT LEAGUE PENNANT

By a margin of four games, the board of the league will be held Tuesday, September 6, at the Shrine Club in Dayton at 8 p.m.

President Clevenger is requesting that each team be represented by its captain or his appointed representative, and all league officials.

The meeting is called for the purpose of determining what form of league tournament is desired this fall, what plans and changes will be necessary for next season and any other business to be taken care of at this time. A full representation at the meeting will go a long way toward determining the future activities of the league, Mr. Clevenger points out.

BEAUTY DENIES PRINCE'S LOVE

Greta Nissen, blonde film star, emphatically denies that any romance existed between herself and Prince Swan Singh, handsome Indian potentate. Greta declares the Prince merely sought to induce her to play the lead in a picture which he proposed to film in India.

FLED RUSSIA TO ENTER FILMS

When Sovietism took the reins of government in Russia, Ena Delakye, famous beauty, fled her native country and went to Britain, where she is now a prominent star of the films.

CLAIMED "MOST VALUABLE GROUP OF CHILDREN"

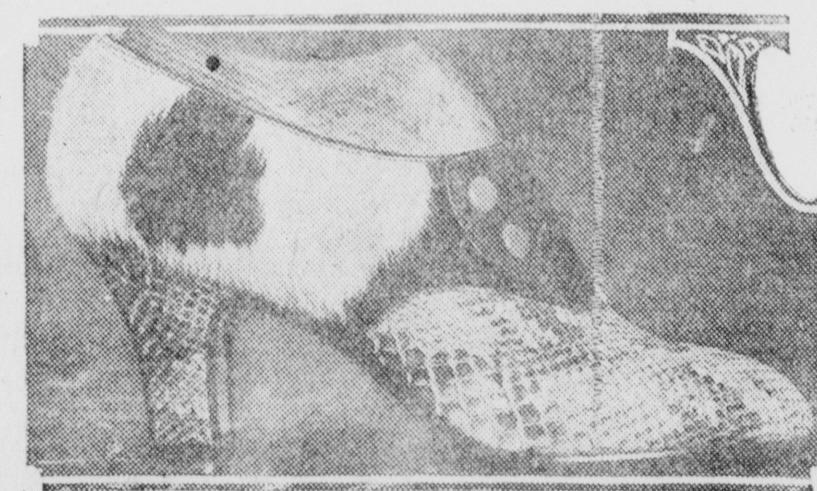

This group of children, above, is declared to be the most valuable ever assembled, as far as actual dollars and cents are concerned. Their annual earning capacity totals in excess of half a million dollars. They are famous screen youngsters, of Hollywood, and this picture shows them at a party given by Mickie Daniels and Peggy Eames upon their return from an eastern trip. Mickie is shown dishing out ice cream cones for the guests.

ON WORLD HOP

Edward Schlee (above), wealthy Detroit, and William S. Brock expect to fly around the world in three and a half weeks. Detroit is the start and finish point.

Will C. Barnes, veteran Arizona and New Mexico cowman, shown to the left, is in charge of the government's efforts to prevent extermination of the Texas Longhorn. Barnes has assembled a foundation herd of the breed in the Wichita National forest, Oklahoma, where 20 years ago he launched a successful campaign to keep the American buffalo from becoming extinct. In the center is a view of the cows in the foundation herd, and to the right is one of the prize steers.

THIS MUST BE IT

This highly mixed threesome made the rounds of the Del Monte (Cal.) golf course in this manner: Dr. Charles Hadden, noted amateur archer, shooting his arrow from hole to hole; Mervyn Griffin, tennis star, volleying his tennis ball from green to green; and Cam Puget, pro, using an ordinary golf ball.

VANDERBILT ELOPER FORGIVEN

The loss of Mildred Doran, Flint (Mich.) school teacher, in the Dole race is not discouraging Luba Phillips in her plans to fly from New York to Paris. "I'm not a bit afraid," says the Russian aviatrix. "I'll carry on for woman in the air."

Grace Vanderbilt, who eloped with Henry Gassaway Davis, 3rd, has won the forgiveness of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Cornelius Vanderbilt, who are preparing to welcome the young couple back home.

CHILD SUFFERS FRACTURE OF SKULL WHEN STRUCK BY AUTO

Suffering from a fracture of the skull received when she was struck by an automobile while playing in the street near her home at 7 o'clock Thursday evening, Jean Sodders, 2-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Otto Sodders of Jamestown, is in a serious condition.

The child, playing with several other children, ran across the street in front of a car driven by Eugen Gordon. The driver of the automobile applied the brakes and stopped the machine in an effort to avoid the child, but a fender struck her and knocked her down. The skull was fractured on one side.

FORMER RESIDENT CALLED BY DEATH

George Frank Currie, 59, former resident of Greene County, died at his home, 509 S. Fountain Ave., Springfield, at 10:30 a.m. Thursday, day of apoplexy.

Mr. Currie was born on the Jamestown Pike east of Xenia in 1868. He married Miss Ida M. Corry of Springfield, October 25, 1894, and she survives him with two children, James Leroy Currie and Pauline Brown Currie both of Springfield, and two brothers, William E. Currie of Santa Ana, Calif., and Arch C. Currie of Springfield.

Funeral services will be conducted at the home Saturday at 2:30, and interment will take place in Fern Cliff Cemetery, Springfield.

low Springs and Springfield. He is survived by one son, Ralph, near Rocky Point; four sisters, Mrs. C. A. Littleton, Mrs. Ford Kershner and Mrs. William Huston, all of Yellow Springs; and Mrs. Charles Dudley, Springfield; and four brothers, Oliver, near Springfield; Bert Sparrow, Columbus; instructor in the physics laboratory at Ohio State University; Warren, of Alabama; and George, Beattytown, Ohio.

Funeral services for Sparrow will be held at 2:30 o'clock Sunday afternoon at the home of his son, Ralph, with burial in the Enon Cemetery.

Coroner Chambliss declared the question has arisen as to whether the machine was owned by Sparrow. The license number was distinguished as being either 312,317 or 372,317.

Greene County Auto Club officials say the former number would have been issued at St. Clairsville, Belmont County, while the latter tag was issued to William Carroll, Springfield, for a Ford touring car.

Coroner Chambliss partially identified the man as one whom he had known by the nickname of "Bull." Forest Gordon, Jamestown, viewed the body at the Burr funeral parlors Friday afternoon and thought he recognized him as a man by the name of Forest Lugg.

Yellow Springs, of whom he had purchased a Ford roadster and who was to bring the machine to Jamestown Friday morning.

The train crew carried the unconscious man into the baggage room at the B. and O. freight depot at Jamestown. Sparrow was dead when found, but his companion was still living.

Sparrow sustained a broken neck and concussion of the brain and his body was badly mangled.

The unidentified man received internal injuries, his right arm and both legs and chest were crushed.

Coroner F. M. Chambliss is making every effort to establish his identity. He has made a preliminary examination.

Three men witnessed the crash from a distance. They were P. F. Redmon, ticket agent at the Jamestown B. and O. station, John Hardy, also employed at the station, and a third man whose name was not learned. They were questioned by the coroner.

The train was operating between Xenia and Washington C. H. and was in charge of Conductor Sweeney. The train was due through Jamestown at 8:45 and was running on time.

The body of Sparrow was removed to the undertaking establishment of Earl and M. F. Littleton brothers, Yellow Springs funeral directors, in the Littleton ambulance. The Littleton brothers are nephews of Sparrow.

POLICE THREATEN TIME LIMIT FOR PARKING TO BREAK UP EVIL

A parking limiting ordinance is a police threat in the campaign to break up double-parking on streets in the business section

Peter Shagin, motorcycle policeman, who is directing the campaign, says.

After a drive of two or three weeks to educate motorists against double parking, Shagin now believes that an ordinance that will limit the time autos can be parked at the curb may be the only solution of the situation.

No arrests of double parking offenders have been made by police, the campaign being largely educational, in view of the fact that although there is no time limit on curb parking here, motorists who park at the curb early Saturday and keep their machines there all day are more guilty of the double parking evil than the double parking offenders themselves.

Merchants who park their autos in front of their own places of business on Saturdays for the conveniences of members of their own family and then leave them there all day, are to blame for the double parking evil, Shagin believes. In addition he believes they are doing themselves an injustice because the courtesy of allowing the curb line in front of their stores open to parking by shoppers would be a convenience that would be reciprocated in increased business.

With this in view Shagin is appealing to merchants and others who occupy parking space all day Saturday to be considerate of the rights of others and be inclined to tax on double parking offenders because the inconsiderate parking of others prevents them from finding a curb space vacant.

A time limiting ordinance would prevent all-day parking along the curb line and would eliminate double parking, he believes, and police will advocate such an ordinance as a drastic measure to prevent double parking if the situation does not improve.

TORTOISE'S MEAT IS TWO-LEGS' POISON
 Jack-in-the-Box made a queer noise with his jaws—it sounded as though he was smacking his lips—patted himself with his claw upon the spot where his stomach ought to have been—if it wasn't—and winked one eye at the boy.
 "Yum! Yum! Good!" said he.

Suddenly Peter remembered something.

"But I have eaten mushrooms, Jack-in-the-Box. And they are much like Toadstools, aren't they?"

Tortoise shook his head.

"No," he mumbled. "Not to an expert like myself. I eat mushrooms, of course, but they aren't half as delicious. Give me Toadstools every time."

"You do seem to be enjoying every mouthful!" chuckled Peter. "How evenly you are biting off each portion. If I, with my own eyes, didn't see you at it, I would think the slices had been pared off with a knife."

"I am making a clean cut of it! And I shall not stop until every speck of the Toadstool is gone and I reach the stem!" Tortoise munched and muttered at the same time.

"How long will it take you?" asked Peter, curiously.

"Oh, nearly an hour by the sun," replied his friend. "I have wasted more time talking already. Now I am going to do nothing but eat. Stay around, if you like, and when I have finished I will tell you the story of the three cousins."

Next—"Iris Plays a Joke."

"BACK TO NATURE" MOVEMENT

"If you want to taste a juicy, sweet tidbit you want to dine on Toadstool. Nothing like it in the world I say! I don't suppose you happen often to have eaten any?" "I should say not," declared Peter. "Toadstools may be the best sort of meat to a Tortoise, but they are poison to a Two-Legs!"

"Is that so?" asked Jack-in-the-Box, much interested. "I am sorry to hear that, for I was just about to ask you to join me at my feast. I could spare a slice or two to a friend like you."

Peter smiled.
 "That's generous of you and I am much obliged, but I wouldn't dare risk even a bite. If I should

by BEATRICE BURTON, Author of "HER MAN", "HONEY LOU", "THE HOLLYWOOD-GIRL", ETC.

"Don't let her come any of that stuff on you, Sally."

CHAPTER LIII.
If Aunt Em had one human weakness in her make-up, it was her affection for Sally's father.

He might be the black sheep of the family. He might have won her scorn by deserting his family years before. But she loved him nevertheless as a very upright and capable human being will love one who is weak and full of faults.

So Sally went straight to her with the message from her mother.

"Now, isn't that just like them! Sending to me for a hundred dollars just as if I could go and get it off one of those bums in the back yard!" cried Aunt Em, waving her arm angrily toward the red current bushes that filled a triangle of ground beyond the driveway. "They're like a couple of crazy children—your mother and father. They have no more sense than a pair of babies!"

She dusted some flour from her slender hands, untied her aprons, and still scolding, hurried upstairs to get some money from the photograph album in her trunk. She always kept bills in between the pages of the old album. No burglar, she always maintained, would think of looking for money in between the pictures of Grandfather Jerome and Aunt Katy and all the rest of the Jeromes who had been dead for many years.

Sally was relieved when she saw her climb into her car and roll down the driveway in the direction of the nearest telegraph office, to wire Mrs. Jerome the money she wanted.

She did not want Aunt Em in the house when Beau's new-found friend arrived.

"If Aunt Em knew that Beau was running around with a girl she'd throw him out of the house first," thought Sally, hurrying into some fresh clothes and running a quick comb through the soft, dark waves of her hair.

The hall clock was chiming the half hour after 5 when the front door bell rang sharply. Buttoning her cuffs, Sally flew down the stairs.

The girl who stood waiting on the front porch was just the sort of girl she would expect Beau to pick out. She was dark and slender and flashy-looking, as Mabel had been in those care-free days before she had had a husband and a baby.

There were dimples in her cheeks, and a particularly bright shade of raspberry rouge. Her lips were a gash of scarlet in her small face.

When she spoke her voice had the same brassy quality that Mabel's voice had:

"Are you Beau's sister? Is he here yet?"

Sally opened the screen door and let her in. She stepped into the hall, and a sweeping odor of heliotrope perfume came in with her. She jingled as she walked—head fringed on her handbag, a dozen bracelets on her slender bare arms, anklets under her chiffon stockings.

"Won't you come in here, please?" asked Sally, and led her down the long hall to Aunt Em's tiny "office" at the end of it. She shut the door behind them and locked it.

Then she faced Beau's lady love, and found her staring at her in wide-eyed astonishment.

"Why did you look that way?" she gasped, and Sally gave that swift sunshiny smile of hers that could mean so much or so little.

"I don't want," she answered slowly and deliberately, "I don't want Beau's wife to come in while you're here."

The girl's round hazel eyes became still more round.

"Who's Beau?"

"My brother. The person you call 'Bud,'" said Sally, and sat down upon the edge of Aunt Em's desk chair. "You didn't know he was married, did you?"

The girl's face was all the answer she needed. It was blank with amazement and bewilderment. White as a sheet of paper, and almost as empty. "Oh, no," she said in a very small voice.

"Well, he is," Sally went on. "He has a baby, too. That's what I want to talk to you about. You mustn't."

She never finished the sentence. She saw that she did not need to finish saying what she was going to say.

For the girl sprang up from the straight chair where she had been sitting, and started for the back door. "You don't have to talk to me about anything!" she cried shrilly. "Just let me get out of here. Just let me out! Married! Oh, my gosh! I don't want nothin' to do with no married men. Let me out!"

Sally could have laughed at her anxiety to get away and her truly funny expression of fear, if she had not felt like crying, too. It seemed such a dreadful thing for Beau to do—to pick up a girl of this type for an evening's wild escapade when he had a tiny son upstairs and a wife who was willing to go to work for him. Sally had gained a lot of respect for the jazzy, brassy little Mabel during the past day and a half.

She turned the key in the door and the girl, whose name she did not thought about him . . . What was it the silly, popular song said:

"But when I hate you
It's 'cause I love you—
It was silly, but it was true.

I heard all about what really happened between her and John Nye from Miss Kress. I told you I'd find out, and I did!"

MRS. CORSON HOPES TO SWIM CHANNEL

DOVER, ENGL., Sept. 2.—With the hope of being the first woman to swim the English Channel twice, Mrs. Mille Gade Corson of New York will start from Dover at 5:30 o'clock this afternoon for Cape-Gris-Nez. Mrs. Corson swam from the French side last year and, if successful today, will be the first woman to swim from the English side.

"You don't like him because Mille's trying to make you think that he got smart with her!" chirped Mabel, nodding her head wisely. "But don't let her come any of that stuff on you!"
